

PRESS RELEASE

26 February 2010

Everything for Clare parents online at mykidstime.ie

Trying to find new activities for your kids? Do you know what's being offered in Clare? Now you can find it at www.mykidstime.ie!

Making it easier for parents to find out what's on after school or at weekends, a searchable list of activities and classes around the county is now available in one handy place, mykidstime.ie.

Choc full of details of children's activities, classes, events and services, there are plenty of ideas to keep kids learning and active.

Founded originally by two parents in Galway, the Mykidstime website now covers 9 regions including Clare. Laura Painter, Mykidstime Clare said, "There's a growing variety of activities for parents of babies and toddlers all the way up to teenagers in Clare. Unless you're in the right place at the right time, you simply wouldn't know about them. Our website provides plenty of ideas and options for families - all conveniently located close to home in Clare."

Mykidstime Clare is a free resource for families in the Clare area. With a full range of listings for activities, classes and clubs for children of all ages, as well as information on services and events for children and families. And if you are a provider of classes and activities and events for families and children, Mykidstime is happy to list you for free. Mykidstime also offers a convenient booking service for camp and class providers, allowing parents to pay for class renewals and camp places online.

Parents can also sign up for free monthly e-newsletters with interesting articles, information and suggestions for things to do, as well as regular competitions and the MyChat forum where they can hook up with other local parents online.
